Judge Moncure Resumes Stand in Divorce Probe

Takes Up In Detail Charges Made Against Him—Makes Complete Answer to His Critics—Cites Authorities

TAKES UP BAGGETT CASE

Judge States That Should Mrs. Baggett Be Indicted He Will Ask The Governor to Designate Some Other Judge to Try The Case—Was Surprised at Number of Persons Shown by Committees Report to be Residing With Mrs. Baggett.

At the Session of the Bar Association Committee yesterday, Judge Moncure resumed the witness stand and took up in order the charges made against him by Frank Stuart and the insidious propaganda published and waged against him and many others by a Washington newspaper since January 14.

Incompetency

In answer to the charge of incompetency Judge Moncure called attention to the fact that he had been three times successively almost uuanimously indorsed for the Judgeship by the bar of the City of Alexandria. the last of which indorsements was after Stuart's charges and the newspaper publication, and that for the twenty-one months he had been on the bench had not missed a day from the public business except Sundays and Christmas, that before going on the bench he had enjoyed a large practice paying him at least three times as much as the Judge's salary which showed what the public thought of his competency, but that he had accepted the Judgeship because of the public service and honor of the position.

Dignity

In reply to the charge of lack of dignity Judge Moncure said the bar and people of Alexandria who had known him nearly twenty years and who had endorsed him for the Judgeship should know better than Stuart who had been here scarcely two years, and Judge Moncure further said that such charge and the comment by Stuart on his mode of dressing did not lay well in the mouth of a man who had accepted his charity and friendship, and that neither Stuart nor his family ever objected on that account to riding with the Judge publicly in his automobile whenever it served their purposes or convenience.

Political Activity

Taking up the charge of political activity Judge Moncure stated that he had always taken an active interest in politics and always expected to do so, and that it was the right of a real American and the duty of a good citizen to his community. Judge Moncure further stated that however, it was not in his own political methods to write a letter to lady voters professing to be a purist and reformer and at the election to violate both the liquor and election laws for the sake of the votes of persons who could be so influenced, nor had he with a pistol insulted an unarmed Judge wishing to show him mercy intending to kill the Judge if the insults were resented. Judge Moncure also called attention to the fact that the voters thought as he did because the candidates he supported were elected by large majorities. And he added that from the evidence before the Bar Association Committee the City of Alexandria was indeed very fortunate that Stuart was so roundly defeated for the important office he ran for, an office requiring the holder to be a man of honesty, good horse sense, mercy and decency.

Non-Enforcement of Divorce Laws

Judge Moncure stated that this subject was to a great extent a matter of technical law and called the attention of the Committee to the leading cases on the subject, namely, the Towson, Williams and Cooper cases decided by the Supreme Court of Appeals and by which he was bound, the first two of which were Alexandria cases tried by leading Alexandria lawyers before Judge Moncure went on the bench.

Towson Case

The Court of Appeals held that Towson who had lived in Washington more than fifteen years, held a government position, married there, and occasionally voted in Stafford County could come to Alexandria and after a few days start a divorce suit, holding that his domicile and residence in the meaning of the divorce law was largely a matter of his intent in his own mind.

Williams Case

The Williams case was one affecting domicile and residence in respect to the right to hold the office of City Councilman by one of our respected and leading citizens, Mr. Julian Y. Williams, President of the Alexandria Fertilizer and Chemical Company. Although Mr. Williams had built a handsome permanent home in Arlington County and was living there with his family, yet he claimed Alexandria City as his residence and domicile and stated that he had a room at his mother's residence in Alexandria City that he had a right to occupy. His mother's residence was for sale. The Supreme Court of Appeals upheld Mr. Williams in his contention, again affirming that the question was largely one of intent of the mind and Mr. Williams took his seat as a member of the City Council of Alexandria City.

Cooper Case

In the Cooper Case the State of Virginia endeavored to collect taxes on intangible personal property of Cooper which under the law is assessable at the residence and domicile of the taxpayer. Cooper for several years had lived in Salem, Virginia, with his family in a handsome residence he built there, and he was connected as director and otherwise with various banks, companies and business enterprises there as a local citizen. He attended church there, moved the bodies of his dead children to the cemetery there, and there his living children went to school. He occasionally went for a visit of a day or two to West Virginia which he claimed to be his true residence and domicile and where he claimed the right on such occasions to sleep in a shanty on one of the properties of a company he was interested in. The Supreme Court of Appeals sustained his claim, against affirming that the matter was largely a question of intent of the mind.

Baggett Matter

Judge Moncure stated that he had been in Alexandria actually 18 years and that when he came here he only knew three people in the City. He told of his early struggles as a young lawyer with an office in the Alexandria National Bank Building. As he began to succeed he bought from Mr. Frank Davidson at a big price an old dilapidated building on South Royal Street and in this building, her name then unknown to him, lived as a tenant a widow named Mary L. Baggett with two small children to support, and she then ran a penny candy shop and kept as roomers and boarders men working on the Alexandria-Washington trolley line. Judge Moncure stated that after he became acquainted with Mrs. Baggett as his tenant she appeared to be a well meaning good woman struggling very hard to support herself and children and that she was thoroughly honest but that she was a woman of very low order of intelligence. Later Judge Moncure had the old building torn down and on its site had erected his present residence and offices. After the completion of the new building for a short time Mrs. Baggett occupied a portion thereof and made her living by keeping as roomers and boarders employees of the trolley line, and during the entire time she was a tenant of Judge Moncure she never to his knowledge kept as roomers or boarders persons seeking divorces. Later she moved into her present home next door and this it was pointed out was more than twelve or thirteen years ago. Judge Moncure stated that he did not know when she began taking as roomers and boarders persons seeking divorces but that his first knowledge of it was when occasionally she would come into his office with some one desiring a divorce. He stated that he did not know how many rooms were in her home nor the arrangement of the large building, and that he had only been in the front room, more than ten years ago when it was used as an office by an insurance company for which he collected bills, and he had been in the hall of the house occasionally to leave a message for clients when they returned home at night from their work. Judge Moncure stated, and cited the records of the Committee in corroboration, showing that for the entire period of two years preceeding his elevation to the bench the firm of which he was then head had only 36 cases in all courts where the party seeking the divorce lived at her house. Judge Moncure then took up the records of the Committee which show in the 21 months he has been on the bench that in about 140 cases persons claimed residence at her house and stated that these cases were filed by many different lawyers scattered over that entire period and came to the attention of the Court separately and at different times in that period, and not in the summary comparative and compiled form resulting from the three weeks of labor of three members of the Committee, and that the report of the Committee surprised him and if he had been asked as a guess how many persons had lived at Mrs. Baggetts he would have thought thirty or forty. Judge Moncure stated he thought conditions should be carefully and properly investigated and that the members of the committee who compiled the information would be most proper witnesses. Judge Moncure then stated that he felt sorry for the Baggett woman like he did for everyone in any difficulty but as a Judge did not want to express any opinion at

NEW LEAGUE IS ORGANIZED

Temporary Officers Chosen This Afternoon For Election

Propose to Nominate Candidates to Run For City Council June 13

Following the adjournment meeting of the Kiwanis Club this afternoon, which was attended by more than one hundred persons, those present organized themselves into a better government league following the adoption of a resolution offered by J. Randall Caton. It provides that a call be issued for a mass meeting which will nominate fifteen persons to run for city council under the council manager plan form of city government June 13 next.

A temporary organization was effected with the election of J. E. W. Timberman as chairman and Aubrey Callahan as secretary.

The meeting was adjourned subject to the call of the chairman and it is proposed to hold a mass meeting in the near future for the purpose of forming a permanent organization and taking active steps to elect five of the fifteen candidates elected by the organization in the coming election.

Britain Will Sell All Her Dirigibles

London, March 7.—As a part of its policy of economy the government has rescinded its resolution to keep British airships intact until next June, when it had been hoped that an imperial airship service would have been organized which would have employed them.

India, South Africa, Australia and New Zealand were invited to co-operate, but all except Australia refused, as the upkeep on even the storage would amount to about $8,000 monthly.

Arrangements are now being made to offer all the ships, stations, repair shops, hangars, etc. for sale within a few weeks. There are five airships, R-33, R-36, R-37, R-80 and L-71, the last a Zeppelin, which was surrendered by Germany. It has been suggested that the United States has been negotiating for the R-33 or R-36, or perhaps both.

CITY ENGINEER MAKES TALK TO THE RETAILERS

Want Record Kept by Police of All Persons Who Move

TO OMIT STYLE SHOW

Report of Activities of Bureau During Year—To Continue to Hold Four Dollar Days in Year.

City Engineer E. C. Dunn last night delivered an interesting address before the members of the retail merchants' bureau of the Chamber of Commerce relative to the assessment per capita in this city as compared with other Virginia cities. It is lower here than elsewhere, he pointed out.

A committee was named by the association to prepare an ordinance to be presented to the city council providing that all drivers of express wagons and vans make an immediate report to police headquarters of persons they move, giving the new address.

It will be provided that failure to do so will be punishable by the imposition of a fine. The committee named to draft the ordinance is composed of Frank Michelbach, C. Page Waller, C. B. Swan and Captain George H. Evans. Such an ordnance, it was pointed out, will be beneficial to merchants and others seeking to locate persons who have moved without leaving an address.

After a general interchange of opinion it was decided to continue the usual dollar days, four to be held during the course of a year.

The bureau decided not to hold a style show this spring, but probably will put one on in the autumn.

A report of the activites of the bureau for the past year was read and it will be submitted at the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce. The meeting was presided over by R. E. Knight.

STOLEN AUTO FOUND

An automobile stolen Sunday night from the garage of Hunt Roberts at Cameron Run, has been recovered near Ellicott City, Md., according to word received today from Washington by Chief of Police Goods.

Mr. Roberts left this morning to bring his machine back. According to the report the machine was found in a public road, the gas supply being exhausted.

PEDAGOGUES TO MEET HERE MARCH 30-31

Expect Six Hundred Delegates to Attend Annual Conference

PROGRAM ANNOUNCED

Many Prominent Educators Scheduled to Address Teachers—Sessions in High School Auditorium.

The State Teachers' Conference, of District H, will hold its annual meeting in the High School Building here on March 30 and 31. More than 600 hundred teachers are expected to come to Alexandria for those two days. Many speakers prominent in educational circles of the State and Nation will be among those on the program.

Delegates to this convention will come from the counties of Prince William, Fauquier, Loudoun Stafford Fairfax and Arlington and from the city of Alexandria.

The committee of arrangements is already busy procuring room and meal accommodations for the coming delegates. The members of this committee report much sucess and feel confident that by the time of the convention they will have at hand accommodations for all.

All meetings will be held in the High School building except, possibly the meeting of the opening night which will probably be held in the Opera House or some other commodius auditorium.

The convention was held in Lees burg last year. The delegates were entertained in the private homes of the city and were exceeding loud in their praises of the hospitality of our neighbors. It is hoped that Alexandria will not be out done when it comes to the mere issue of hospitality.

Schools of the city will close their regular sessions for Thursday and Friday, the days of the meeting.

Mayor James M. Duncan will make the address of welcome on the opening night. This meeting will be open to the public. The response to the welcome address will be made by the Superintendent of the Arlington Schools, Fletcher Kemp, of Rosslyn. Among the other speakers at this public meeting will be the Honorable Harris Hart, State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The complete program for the two days is as follows: Thursday, March 30, 10 a. m., organization; from 10:30 to 12:30 three address will be delivered by Prof. S. B. Duke, president of the State Normal School, Harrisonburg, Va., H. M. McManaway, president of the Virginia School for the Deaf, Dumb and Blind Staunton, Va., and Dr. May E. Bydm. of the State Board of Health, Richmond, Va., respectively. From 12:30 to 1:30, recess for luncheon. Between 1:30 and 3 o'clock three addresses will be heard. Prof. Charles G. Maphis, of the University of Virginia, will make a talk on Secondary Education. Mrs. Ora Hart Avry, Supervisor of Home Economic Education of the State Board of Education will talk on "Vocational Homemaking." The third speaker has not yet been announced. From 3 o'clock to 4:30 there will be a league program under the supervision of George W. Guy, executive secretary of Co-Operative Education in the state. The conference will then recess until 8 o'clock when Mayor Duncan will make the address of welcome. The response will be made by Fletcher Kemp, superintendent of the Arlington County Schools. Harris Hart, state Superintendent of Public Instruction will also deliver an address. Dr. S. B. Mitchell, of Richmond College, will then make an inspirational talk. Dr. Mitchell's speech will end the activities of the first day.

Friday, March 31, the delegates will meet in executive session from 9 until 10 o'clock. From 10 until 12:30 three more addresses will be heard; Dr. A. B. Chandler, president of the State Normal School for Women for Fredericksburg, on "The Real Education;" Dr. William T. Sanger, executive secretary of the U. S. Teachers' Association on "Professional Teaching;" and Dr. William B. Smithy, of the University of Virginia, on "Secondary Education." From 1:30 till 4:30 the departmental conferences will be held. The director for the High School Conference has not been selected. The Grammer Grade Conference will be presided over by Miss Mary D. Pierce, of this city, and the Primary Conference will be held under the direction of Miss Lucy C. Duncanson, of Leesburg.

"Do you think you could improve politics if you had your own way completely?"

"I'm sure I could," answered Senator Sorghum, earnestly. "Think of the waste o fmoney I could prevent by showing the opposition party there's no use of trying to put up a campaign against me."—Washington Star.

ATTORNEYS HOLD CONFERENCE

Judge Edmund Waddill Presides In U. S. Court Today.

Expected That Suits In Connection With Virginia Shipbuilding Corporation Will be Taken Under Advisement

A conference of the attorneys interested in the Virginia Shipbuilding suits and suits against that concern today is being held before Judge Edmund Waddill in the United States Court here. Judge Waddill was specially designated to sit in this case, he being judge of the circuit court of appeals for this circuit. A large number of attorneys are in attendance. There is one suit of the Virginia Shipbuilding Corporation against the United States and one of the government against the company and two cases in bankruptcy proceedings pending. It is expected that the entire matter will be taken under advisement by Judge Waddill.

CONCERT TOMORROW

Music lovers in Alexandria are promised a treat on tomorrow evening, Friday, the 10th, when the Glee Club of the First Congregational Church of Washington, will present in the Westminster Building, the program they so successfully put on their church a week or so ago. There are 65 members in the club, all trained artists, and they will all participate in tomorrow's program. Prof Harry Mueller, organist at the First Congregational Church, is director of the club, and one of his pupils, Robert Ruckman, will preside at the piano tomorrow evening, for all solo work. Miss Elsa Raner, violinist, is a pupil of Neobold Auer, of New York, teacher of Elman, Zimbalist and other world-famous violinists. One of the features of the evening's entertainment is an original humorous medley composed by the different members of the Glee Club. This splendid concert is being presented under the auspices of Mrs. S. H. Field's Circle of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Second Presbyterian Church of this city. The program will commence at 8:15 o'clock, and tickets may be secured at the door of the Westminster Building.

PLAN TO CURB DEBATE ON THE SOLDIER BONUS

Republican Leaders Discuss Suspending Rules to Bring up Bill

FIGHT IS UNABATED

Chairman Mondell Does Not Believe President's Statement Indicates Any Intention to Veto Measure.

Washington, March 9.—While the fight against the compromise soldiers bonus bill continued yesterday unabated, House members on both sides of the question predicted privately that the measure would be passed by the House.

Although a two-third vote would be required to put the bill through under such a procedure, Republican leaders were discussing the question of calling up the measure under a suspension of the rules. This would preclude the possibility of amendment and ordinarily would limit debate to 20 minutes on each side.

The majority membership will be sounded out on this proposition, but a decision probably will be withheld until after the return here late in the week of Chairman Fordney, of the Ways and Means Committee, who will have charge of the bill on the floor.

The next rules-suspension day in the House will be Monday, March 20. Leaders said the army appropriation bill would be taken up next Tuesday ahead of the bonus bill, and even if the latter measure were not called up under a suspension of the rules, it probably would not be considered before the week beginning March 20.

There was some discussion during the day as to President Harding's attitude with regard to the compromise bill. Representative Mondell, of Wyoming, the majority leader, said he did not think the statement made at the White House yesterday that Mr. Harding occupied the same position that he did when he suggested a sales tax or postponement of the legislation was to be taken to mean that the Executive was prepared to veto the measure.

Representative Hawley, of Oregon, a Republican member of the Ways and Means Committee, said the President had suggested a 90-day delay in enactment of the legislation as an alternative for the sales tax, and that in the judgment of thet committee this suggestion had been met by making October 1, 1922, the effective date of the bill.

WASHINGTON DAY BY DAY

(For The Gazette)

(From Our Special Correspondent)

Washington, March 9.—All efforts to drag former President Woodrow Wilson into the fight on the Four-Power Pacific treaty seemingly have failed, despite a mass of circumstantial evidence, none verified in the slightest degree, that has been accumulated to prove the interest of the former President in the defeat of the treaty.

The policy of silence which Mr. Wilson announced some time ago is being rigidly adhered to by him. So far as known, he has not talked to a single one of his former supporters about the treaty. He has directed no one to speak for him. No one is authorized to speak for him. Everyone so far alleged to be one of the Wilson spokesmen has specifically denied an interest in the fight. The statement was made some days ago that Senator Carter Glass, of Virginia, on the direction of Mr. Wilson, was organizing the opposition to the treaty. Mr. Glass adddressed the Senate in specific denial of this report, saying he had not talked to Mr. Wilson for weeks, and he knew nothing of his attitude toward the treaty.

POLICEMAN RESIGNS

Policeman Luther H. Hayden today tendered his resignation as a member of the police force to Chief C. T. Goods, to take effect at once. Mr. Hayden resigned to accept a position with the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac Railroad Company. It is expected that the board of police commisioners at their meeting next Wednesday night will elect a policeman to fill the vacancy.

BURGLAR BUSY

Robs Residence of Geo. Reynolds at Braddock During Absence of Occupants

The residence of George Reynolds at Braddock was burglarized last night, and during the absence of the occupants between 7:30 and 10:30 o'clock. The burglar secured between $10 and $14 in cash and also stole several pieces of jewelry, some watches and fraternal pins. Entrance was effected by forcing a back window. A report of the robbery has been made to the police, who are investigating.

U. S. DECLINES INVITATION TO GENOA MEETING

Conclude Meeting Is Not Primarily to Consider Economic Issues

NOTE GIVEN ENVOY

This Government Also Fails to Agree With Other Powers on Participation of Bolsheviki in Conference.

Washington, March 9.—Secretary Hughes last night announced the frequently forecast refusal of the United States to participate in the Genoa Conference which is to meet in April.

Rather bluntly, he said the conference is not primarily financial and economic, but political, and this country will not be unnecessary involved in European politics.

The position of this Government was stated in a note from Secretary Hughes to Ambassador Ricci, of Italy, who transmitted the invitation to the conference, and subsequent communications on behalf of his Government as the host of the conference.

"It has been found impossible," Mr. Hughes stated, "to escape the conclusion that the proposed conference is not primarily an economic conference, as questions appear to have been excluded from consideration without the satisfactory determination of which the chief causes of economic disturbances must continue to operate."

He added the statement that it "is rather a conference of a political character in which the Government of the United States could not helpfully participate." The plain speech of that will be appreciated when it is recalled that the invitation was to take part in an "economic and financial" conference.

Mr. Hughes also took occasion to restate with almost equal frankness the position of the American Government toward Russia, which is to be represented in the conference. He said the American Government is eager for the restoration of economic conditions that will enable Russia to regain her productive power, but expressed the opinion that such restoration cannot be had until adequate action is taken by "those chiefly responsible for Russia's present economic disorder."

To that reiteration of the American position toward the Soviet Government he appended a statement as to the course that should be followed by other nations with respect to Russian resources that is in line with previous declarations by the State Department. He held that Russian resources should be free from unfair exploitation, in the interest of the Russian people and in justice to all the powers.

These statements regarding Russia have especial significance in view of the fact that high officials who have great weight with Secretary Hughes and President Harding entertain the opinion that the big business of the Genoa Conference will be Russia. The insistence of the Poincare Government in France that German reparations shall not be taken up at Genoa and revised, and the fact that the debts of European nations to the United States may not be taken up, have limited the larger affairs of the conference to Russia, in the judgment of these officials.

Mr. Hughes did not state specifically in his note what are the questions that have been excluded from consideration, with the result that the conference is not really an economic one, but it is understood that German reparations figure importantly. The thought that revision of these reparations is the inevitable price that must be paid for the laying of new economic foundations in Europe, and indeed in the world, has been spreading in the Government, as it has among the people.

Since this country did not sign the Treaty of Versailles, under which the reparations are determined, and since it does not receive reparations from Germany, there is a natural hesitancy in direct official statement. But it has been no secret that in the most influential circles of the business advisers of the Administration there has been for months the fixed conviction that France must come to an overhauling of the economic penalties laid upon Germany, along with Great Britain, which has manifested willingness in that direction before real recuperation can be realized.

OUR VIRGINIA PILOTS

We noted with some considerable satisfaction the recent action of the legislature at Richmond in refusing to pass a certain measure which reflected on that body of brave and efficient men known as the Virginia Pilot Association. The fight made on this organization has been largely conducted in the Southern Planter, and we have been at a loss to understand the wherefore of the vigorous onslaught on this quasi-public institution of great and far-reaching usefulness.

Its formation many years ago brought order out of chaos and it has maintained the high standard and traditions set for it by its founders, who were men of great vision and lofty principles. As far as our pilotage laws go, they have twice been subjected to the scrutiny of the United States Supreme Court, and in one of the cases that high tribunal declared the pilotage law of Virginia to be constitutional and free of discrimination. Some years ago the General Assembly of Virginia passed a resolution endorsing the Virginia Pilots Association and extending its moral encouragement and expressing its gratification and appreciation of the commendable manner in which these men have performed and are performing the duties required of them, and especially for their valuable co-operation with the Quarantine Authorities in the protection of the Commonwealth.

There are in the organization some thirty full-fledged pilots with twenty-nine apprentices in five different classes of progression. Every pilot, before being allowed to assume the grave responsibilities of his profession is most carefully trained in accordance with the rigid rules and requirements exacted by the organization. They enter into their apprenticeship between the ages of nineteen and twenty-five years, must furnish proof of good moral character, education and physical fitness. As to the latter qualification, they are passed upon by the United States Public Health and Marine Hospital Service. The morale and discipline is equal to that of the army or navy. No drinking is allowed, under the severest penalties.

The men are clean-cut, alert, vigorous, and would do credit to any state or nation in the world. The best evidence of their sterling worth is that those who know them best are their staunchest admirers. Their only enemies, perhaps, are those who seek to make political capital out of surreptitious attacks and carping criticism of a system that has well stood all the tests of time and experience.

DEBATE ON THE PACIFIC TREATY GROWS BITTER

Scenes in Senate Equal Dispute Over Treaty of Versailles

LODGE LEAVES HALL

General Heckling During Senator's Speech—Unable to Stand Grilling—Administration Confident of Victory

Washington March 9.—Bitterness, reminiscent of the strife-filled days of the Versailles treaty fights in 1920, yesterday for the first time broke out on the floor of the Senate in the struggle for ratification of the treaties negotiated in the International Conference on the Limitation of Armament.

Diametrically opposite views as to the worth-whileness of the pacts entered into as a means of preserving the peace of the world were presented by Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, of Massachusetts, one of the negotiators of the treaties, and by Senator James A. Reed, of Missouri, one of the leaders of the American "die-hards" or "irreconcilables."

Their differences over construction of the Four-Power Pacific peace pact, an instrument of less than 500 words, led to sharp exchanges in which Senator Reed accused Senator Lodge of attempting to answer arguments with "sneers," which the Senator from Massachusetts indignantly denied.

When Senator Reed said he was attempting to "observe the courtesies that should obtain between gentlemen, even if they are Senators," Senator Lodge showed signs of extreme irritation, and shortly after terminated the lively colloquy between the Missourian and himself by walking from the Senate Chamber.

With the galleries packed, as in the days of the Versailles treaty battles, spectators listened for hours to the disagreements between students of international affairs.

One of the most unusual exposures in Senatorial debate came late in the day when Senator Reed declared that nothing in the Four-Power pact abrogated the Anglo-Japanese military an dnaval alliance for the preservation of peace in the Pacific. Senator Reed had elaborated the belief for nearly 20 minutes, when Senator Lenroot, of Wisconsin, asked him if he had read the treaty.

Senator Reed replied that he had, whereupon Senator Lenroot called his attention to the concluding article of the treaty which specifically terminated the Anglo-Japanese alliance. Senator Reed conceded that he had been wrong, explaining that he had "read the treaty hurriedly."

"The defeat of the Four-Power treaty would mean the failure of the Washington Conference," said Senator Lodge. "Let there be no illusion on

Kidney and Bladder Troubles Conquered or Money Back

For 40 years, said Dr. Carey, I have been prescribing Marshroot for kidney and bladder sickness and now that I have retired from active practice I have made arrangements with leading druggists to dispense this wonderful prescription at a moderate price, on the money back if dissatisfied plan.

Beware of kidney disease—thousands die of it every year who ought to be enjoying the blessings of life and health. Watch the symptoms. If you have specks floating before the eyes, puffy eyes, clammy feet or moist palms, backache or sideache you ought to get a bottle of Dr. Carey's Marshroot right away.

It has wonderfully benefitted tens of thousands of cases of kidney and bladder troubles and is the medicine you can always depend upon. Results are guaranteed.

NOTE—Dr. Daniel G. Carey was a practicing physician for many years and his great Prescription, Marshroot aided thousands of sufferers from kidney and bladder troubles. Hereafter you can always get this effective Prescription at all reliable pharmacists the country over. Keep in mind the name, Dr. Carey's Marshroot prescription No. 777. No other medicine can take its place.

If all the gold in the world were melted into ingots, it might be contained in a room 21 feet square and 16 feet high.

The physicians of Tibet 1,500 years ago employed the same methods of diagnosing the condition of a sick person as the physicians of the present day—they felt the patient's pulse and looked at his tongue.

Met at noon and adjourned at 4:35 p. m. until noon today.

Considered calendar Wednesday business.

It became known that Republican leaders are considering a plan to put the soldiers' bonus bill through the White House under a suspension of rules, which would block amendments and limit debate to 40 minutes.

Under this arrangement a two-thirds vote would be necessary, but leaders expressed opinion that this majority could be obtained, with votes to spare. The next rules suspension day will be Monday, March 20.

Present expectation is that the army appropriation bill will be taken up ahead of the bonus bill, probably Tuesday.

Representative Ogden Mills (Republican), New York, was appointed a member of the Ways and Means Committee to succeed Representative Houghton, who has gone to Germany as ambassador.

Representative Ogden Mills (Republican), California, was named to succeed the late Representative Elston, of California, as a member of the appropriations committee, and Representative Murphy (Republican), Ohio, was named to the same committee to fill a vacancy.

Southern members of Congress, headed by the Alabama delegation, appeared in a body before the House Military Affairs Committee, and through Representatives Oliver, Bankhead and Almon, all of Alabama, appealed for the prompt acceptance of the Henry Ford offer for purchase and lease of the Muscle Shoals government-owned properties.

Railroads would be required to obtain the approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission before they could "farm out" repair or construction work to leased or privately owned shops under a bill introduced by Representative Beck (Republican), Wisconsin.

SENATE.

Met at noon and adjourned at 5:25 p. m. until noon today.

In a prepared speech on the Four-Power Pacific treaty, Chairman Lodge, of the Foreign Relations Committee, told the Senate the treaty's main purpose was to abrogate the Anglo-Japanese alliance and that its other provisions bound the United States to do no more than talk over future controversies in the Pacific.

Senator Lodge said the American delegation to the Arms Conference regarded the Anglo-Japanese alliance as the "most dangerous elemnt" in this Government's relations with the Far East. He warned that if the Four-Power pact failed the naval limitations agreement would be endangered, and that all that had been accomplished at the Arms Conference would be cast aside.

Alluding to Senator Lodge's plea for ratification of the treaty "in the name of peace and humanity," Senator Watson (Democrat), Georgia, declared the language of the Republican leader might well have been borrowed from Woodrow Wilson's league of nations addresses.

President Harding, responding to a Senate resolution, informed it that the Lansing-Ishii agreement, relating to the "open door" policy in China, had been completely superseded by the Nine-Power treaty relating to China which is now before the Senate.

Adopted a resolution by Senator Cummins requesting the President to submit a copy of the opinion of the Attorney General on the eligibility of Senator Smoot and Representative Burton to be members of the allied debt-refunding commission.

Request of the House for a conference on the District bill was agreed to and Senators Phipps, Jones and Glass named as conferees on the part of the Senate.

Wonderful for Sick Stomachs

That's What Every Stomach Sufferer Says After Taking One or Two Doses of Dr. Orth's Great Stomach Prescription.

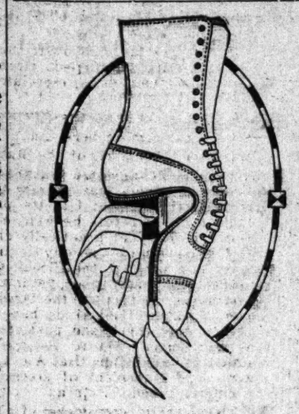
Everyone who tries it willingly acknowledges that it does cure indigestion, and certainly banishes dyspepsia and other Stomach distress almost instantly.

Read this letter from Wm. Starkey, Rock Creek, Ohio.

I was sick for several years, went to hospital after getting no relief from doctors and many remedies that I tried. Unable to work, and confined to the house, I was advised to try Dictor Orth's Stomach Remedy. I had no faith in anything any more, but I tried it and to my happy surprise it did me good. I am now perfectly well and for six months have been working every day in the blacksmith shop, eating everything I want and in perfect health.

It is with pleasure that I recommend Dr. Orth's Stomach Remedy.

Money back is Dr. Orth's Stomach Remedy does not do what we say it will, and remember that this remarkable remedy is the prescription of a practicing physician who used it with great success in exactly such cases as yours during a period of 60 years. All good druggists can supply you.

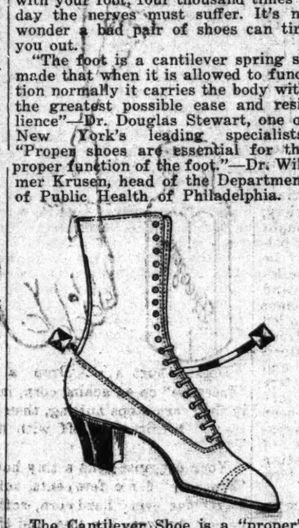


A Shoe for Comfort

The feet are one of the important nerve centers of the body. Prominent nerve specialists often start their treatment on the feet of their patients. This shows how important it is to wear comfortable, good-fitting shoes.

You take from 4,000 to 8,000 steps a day. Think what that means to your feet! If the shoe is not designed and constructed to harmonize perfectly with your foot, four thousand times a day the nerves must suffer. It's no wonder a bad pair of shoes can tire you out.

"The foot is a cantilever spring so made that when it is allowed to function normally it carries the body with the greatest possible ease and resilience"—Dr. Douglas Stewart, one of New York's leading specialists. "Proper shoes are essential for the proper function of the foot."—Dr. Wilmer Krusen, head of the Department of Public Health of Philadelphia.



The Cantilever Shoe is a "proper" shoe, a wonderfully comfortable shoe, and it is so modish that you are proud to wear it. The arch is flexible, like the arch of your foot. The fit is snug but true. The toes are not crowded. The heels are high enough to be graceful and sensible but not too high.

Cantilever comfort is so real that your feet are "off your mind" and you can enjoy life. Come to us and get fitted and begin now to enjoy Cantilever comfort.

MOTHER! MOVE CHILD'S BOWELS WITH CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP

Hurry Mother! Even a sick child loves the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup" and it never fails to open the bowels. A teaspoonful today may prevent a sick child tomorrow. If constipated, bilious, feverish, fretful, has cold, colic, or if stomach is sour, tongue coated, breath bad, remember a good cleansing of the little bowels is often all that is necessary.

Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

SUCH PAINS AS THIS WOMAN HAD

Two Months Could Not Turn in Bed. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Finally Restored Health

Seattle, Washington.—"I had dragging pains first and could not stand on my feet, then I had chills and fever and such pains in my right side and a hard lump there. I could not turn myself in bed and could not sleep. I was this way for over two months, trying everything any one told me, until my sister brought me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it regularly until all the hard pains had left me and I was able to be up and to do my work again. The hard lump left my side and I feel splendid in all ways. I know of many women it has helped."—Mrs. G. RICHARDSON, 4640 Orcas St., Seattle, Washington.

This is another case where Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound brought results after "trying everything any one told me" had failed.

If you are suffering from pain, nervousness and are always tired; if you are low spirited and good for nothing, take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. You may not only relieve the present distress, but prevent the development of more serious trouble.

CITY NEWS IN BRIEF

Friends of Miss Clara A. Moore will be glad to know she is convalescing from the grippe at 517 Cameron street.

Mr. Walter Leatherland, formerly of Alexandria, is seriously ill at his home, 3030 Cambridge Place. Washington, D. C.

Edward, the little four year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Edw. C. Evans, was operated on this morning for adenoids and tonsils at Episcopal Eye, Ear and Throat Hospital, and is doing nicely.

A stated communication of Alexandria-Washington Lodge No. 22, A. F. and A. M., will be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock for the disposal of routine business and work in the Master Mason's Degree.

Mt. Vernon Council, Daughters of America, will hold their regular meeting tonight at 7:45 in their hall in North Pitt street. All members that can avail themselves of the opportunity of attending, are urged to do so.

Rev. Dr. A. Simon, of Washington, next Wednesday night at 8 o'clock will deliver an address at the Synagogue on North Washington Street. He will take for his subject, "The Message of Purim."

Debaters for the state contest will be chosen at a competitive debate to be held at the High School tomorrow, (Friday) afternoon at three o'clock. The faculty and debaters extend a cordial invitation to their friends.

The many friends of Mr. C. O. Tullock will be glad to hear that he has returned to his home in Duke street, after having been confined at the Alexandria Hospital for some time past.

The Richmond is showing a great picture, "Love Never Dies," for the second time today. The Ingomar is featuring Mary Anderson in "Too Much Wife" and the Idle Hour has a fine collection for its regular weekly "All Comedy Day."

The funeral of Mrs. Kate H. Eaton, who died yesterday, will take place at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon from her late residence, 912 Duke street, and services will be conducted by Rev. Dr. W. J. Morton, rector of Christ Episcopal Church, and burial will be in the Methodist Protestant cemetery.

The automobile bureau of the chamber of commerce yesterday afternoon elected F. S. Jackson chairman from that bureau to the chamber of commerce for a period of two years to succeed J. E. W. Timberman who declined the nomination for another term.

Miss Eleanor Heineman, of Philadelphia, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Maurice Weinberg, in this city. Before returning to her home in Philadlphia, Miss Heineman will spend some time with her sister, Mrs. D. G. McWhorter, also of this city.

Mrs. Alice Virginia Edward, sixty-two years old, died today at the residence of Mr. John Hammersley, 421 South Payne street. She was the widow of George Edwards, and a daughter of the late E. W. Webb. Her funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon and will be conducted by Rev. Dr. E. B. Jackson, pastor of the First Baptist Church.

The Chamber of Commerce has, in the process of preparation, an illustrated booklet seting forth the natural advantages of Alexandria. This book, it is understood, will be scattered broad cast throughout the country. In addition to the interesting reading matter, it will contain pictures of the various notable places in and around the city.

The Alexandria High School girls' basket ball team was defeated by the Y. W. C. A., team, of Washington, in Washington yesterday afternoon by the score of 22 to 6. The Alexandria girls ran up against a team composed of players far above the high school class and put up an exceptionally fine game considering the circumstances.

Charles Bruce Morton, son of Dr. William J. Morton, of this city, together with his room-mate and class mate, John Bate, of Kentucky, students in the Medical School of the University of Virginia, passed a competitive examination in which 50 students were entered for the election of 8 internes to St Luke's Hospital in New York City. Mr. Morton and Mr. Bate were the only two elected from the University of Virginia.

Wedding Follows 3-Hour Courtship

Fredericksburg, Va., March 7.—John Tyler Thomas, 52 a merchant of Spotsylvania County, and Mrs. Hazel Orzelia Pond, 45, of Boston, Mass., were married here by Rev. Harry Lee Hout at the Methodist parsonage. They will make their home in Spotsylvania County.

When securing a marriage license from Clerk of the Court J. W. Adams, of this city, the bridegroom, who is a divorcee, stated he had met his fiancee only three hours earlier, and it had been a case of love at first sight. The bride is a daughter of John B. Perry, of Auseble, N. Y., and is a widow.

Commercial and Political

THURSDAY, MARCH 10, 1814.

The present awful crisis of our affairs, is such as to make every reflecting man tremble for the fate of his country. The labors of the Revolution, the fabric of Washington's glory, seems shaken to its foundation! Our political and our monied systems are tottering to ruin! The most powerful part of our population are driven to madness and tell us they are ready to resist their oppressions "even unto blood." Whilst the northern thunder thus rumbles o'ev our heads, the placid calm of the palace portends a storm dark, dismal, and destructive. Let the timid, seek their shelter in time; but let the hearts that feel for others wrong, and their own most cherished rights, be prepared to meet and have the pelting of its rage. The tryant that "fiddled whilst Rome burned"—did not end his days in peace. He ought not!

HUGE ORDER OF POSTAL CARDS

Postoffice Department Places Order for 7,000,000 Lbs. of Cardboard

The Champion Fibre Company of Canton, N. C., has secured the U. S. Government contract for 7,000,000 pounds of postal card cream bristol board, for the use of the government for printing postal cards.

The postal board will be the first finished product turned out at the new paper mill, work on which is being rushed to completion in order that the company may start on the contract the latter part of April or the first of May.

This huge order, which means the manufacture of over six hundred million post cards for the use of the Government, will tax the capacity of the new mill for months.

The daily requirements are from 20,000 pounds to 30,000 pounds. The postal card board is to be not less than .009 and not more than .010 of an inch thickness.

While some of the pulp turned out by the company has heretofore been used in the manufacture of postal cards eleswhere, the securing of the contract and the ability of the company to turn out the finished product here in Canton is a long step in advance and brings to a realization the idea of the company that it would some day stand on its own feet and be independent of other companies. The new mill is also to turn out the finest quality of book and bond paper. It will contribute materially to the economical independence of the South.

The company now makes three kinds of wood pulp—soda, sulphite and sulphate as well as container board. The company was the first in the world to produce tannin extract in powdered form and this extract is now being shipped all over the world In addition there is caustic soda, turpentine and "Bindex Extract," a material which is meeting with wonderful success as a road binder and is the only satisfactory material so far found to bind sand and gravel clay roads and prevent dust.

The government postal card contract secured by the company assured the continued growth and prosperity of Canton. While it has been felt that the new mill would unquestionably be a decided asset to the company and to the town, it is in the nature of a pleasant surprise that it is to start out with more orders than it can fill for months.

this time either to injure or help her and that should she be indicted he would certainly ask the Governor to designate some other Judge to try the case.

Judge Moncure stated that Dr. William J. Morton was his pastor and that he held him in highest regard and that Dr. Morton had during the twenty years he had known him always stood out emphatically against divorce and on numerous occasions spoken to him about divorces both as an attorney and on at least one occasion since becoming Judge, but that he never spoke as representative of the Ministerial Association, and the Judge thought conversationally and as expressing his private views, and the Judge replied to him that morally he agreed with him in many respects, but that the law which was different was not made but only applied by the Judges.

Judge Moncure then spoke of the interview with Major Caton, and as heretofore stated by Major Caton, Judge Moncure said that on one occasion Major Caton casually said to him that he had heard that many persons seeking divorce were reputed to be living at Mrs Baggetts and that it had been intimated that she was not careful in her statements as to their residence but that he did not want to see her get into trouble but if the condition existed it should be stopped, and to this Judge Moncure replied that he did not know about the facts but felt about the matter like Major Caton did and would take the matter up with her in the near future. A day or two subsequently Judge Moncure passed Mrs. Baggett on the street while she was sweeping the pavement in front of her home and told her that a prominent citizen had spoken to him about the reputed number of people living at her house and that it was said she was not careful about her statements of residence, and Judge Moncure told her that she must not state anything except what was true, because if she did otherwise, she would get into trouble. She assured Judge Moncure that she only stated facts. Judge Moncure told the committee that because of her apparent frankness and her honesty he was inclined to believe her, and that he had on one occasion where no definite residence was named in a suit, but a Washington attorney told the judge he thought the party lived at Mrs. Baggett's, although there was no deposition by her in the suit, the judge sent for Mrs. Baggett and put her on oath and she stated the party did not live at her house, whereupon Judge Moncure dismissed the suit, and that he stated, was an additional reason for believing her. Judge Moncure subsequently told Major Caton of the conversation with Mrs Baggett. Judge Moncure also told the committee that the only thing of value to a grand jury or the people of Alexandria is the report of the sub-committee compiled after hard labor, and that now the committee and the people of Alexandria were beginning to know the personal spite and venom of Stuart, who instigated the whole matter, and the insidious, untrue propaganda of the sensational Washington paper, and he called particular attention to the fact that respectable Washington newspapers had refused to be party to such procedure, and that the vicious conspiracy he had learned had existed for several months, and had been planned to be sprung to wrongfully inflame the public against Judge Moncure and prevent his election, and at a late time, so he could not properly defend himself. Judge Moncure stated that while a few ministers, notably one residing in Washington, and heretofore and now enjoying the sensational Washington newspaper notoriety, had spoken of him in what he thought to be language better suited to a bolshevist soap box agitator, yet he thought the great majority of the local ministers wanted to be fair and follow the injunctions of Nicodemus and St. Paul, and he further called attention to the fact that two of our most prominent and leading ministers, namely Rev. William J. Morton and Rev. E. V. Regester, whose characters and religious and civic endeavors are known to almost everyone, had been attacked by the Washington newspaper for voicing the sentiments of Nicodemus and St. Paul and stating that they wanted everyone to have fair treatment.

REASONS FOR LARGE NUMBER OF DIVORCES

Judge Moncure gave as reasons for the large number of divorces in Alexandria City and Arlington and Fairfax counties the following reasons, whch he said were probably well known:

1. The proximity of Washington, D. C., having a population over one-half that of the State of Virginia. And the records show that over 70 per cent of all chancery cases there, though they have but one ground for divorce, are divorce cases, and Judge Moncure said he thought the sensational newspaper could therefore find at home the character of news it seemed to delight in.

2. The soldier marriages, where soldiers returning to their distant homes left wives who wanted to be free, but desertion being no ground for divorce in the District of Columbia, and three years since the war being passed, the person wishing divorce naturally came to a convenient locality in Virginia.

3. He stated that such was the case also with the large crowd of war workers formerly in Washington and the cosmopolitan and office holding population of Washington.

4 Also the large shipyard floating population and the torpedo plant had contributed their quota, especially the shipyard.

5. People native to the city.

6. People coming here but a short time from other parts of the State.

Judge Moncure stated that the large divorce rate here was no new thing, as inspection of old Gazette papers published long before he went on the bench show. That practically all the legal business of the city is in his court, and although the Circuit Court formerly had many cases, yet in the 21 months he has been on the bench not over 25 cases of all kinds have been tried in that court, and part of these he had transferred to it. He also stated it was obvious that Alexandria was more convenient of access than Arlington and Fairfax counties.

There was a large docket of divorce cases waiting determination when Judge Moncure went on the bench.

Judge Moncure also called attention to the fact that if Stuart was sincere in looking on his court as a divorce mill, yet he—Stuart tried to get ground all the grist he could get, and since investigation by the Judge outside of the record of his cases Stuart did not seem at all careful about his grist.

Judge Moncure said the common sense of the community knows no irregular case could come up before him unless some lawyer was irregular, but called attention to Stuart's former testimony in which Stuart said that he, Stuart was not interested in the divorce situation, nor was he making charges against any lawyer, but that he was solely after defeating Judge Moncure.

Judge Moncure also called attention to the fact that neither Stuart nor the Washington newspaper had pointed out and sustained a single case of irregularity.

Judge Moncure in passing comment on the issues of the Washington newspaper, called attention to their sensational headlines and scandal news generally, and sarcastically asked if this was an elevating influence, and specifically referred to numerous false statements and propaganda in their articles, citing apathetic description of two young infants rendered homeless, the true facts being that Judge Moncure dismissed the suit and one child was an adult in business in New York and the other an 18 year old boy weighing 160 pounds and at college. In another case pathetically described with swooning and trimmings with blue eyed flaxen haired children, the true facts are that the people are colored, and a dark skinned man objects to his dark skinned wife being the mother of light mulatto children.

Judge Moncure said he did not think a reputable newspaper would engage in such propaganda, but if the newspaper that is publishing this nefarious propaganda continued it, he believed the Alexandria public would now know the truth.

Judge Moncure said that if a suggestion of Col. James R. Caton, to-wit: a statute defining residence and domicile, were enacted into law the whole matter would be clarified.

Judge Moncure is expected to be cross-examined Friday.

HIGH SCHOOL LOSES GAME

Charlottesville Defeats A. H. S. By Score of 28 to 16

High School Loses Championship Game After Hard Fight—Large Crowd Sees Last Game

Alexandria High School's basket ball team went down in defeat last night before the superior team of Charlottsville High School. The score was 16 to 28. The Charlottesville team went into the lead at the offset of the game and at no time thereafter did the local team threaten the visitors.

The Charlottesville boys started off with a four point lead and by clever passing, fast floor work and accurate shooting gradually lengthened the lead until the last whistle sounded.

Charlottesville, by virtue of winning this game is now proclaimed champion of the northwestern half of the state.

The local boys played a fine game but were a bit off on their shooting, missing many pot shots. Captain Dreifus, Midkiff and Dyson were the outstanding lights for the Alexandrians while Bonivita, Lacy and Johnson did the best work for the visitors. This is the second time this term that Charlottesville has effectively stood between Alexandria and the state honors, having defeated the local High School in the semi-finals for the foot ball laurels last fall.

More than five hundred loyal citizens were out and backing their their loyalty to the team. The mantended the game in a body. The much pleasure and gratitude for the way in which the citizens showed their loyalty to the team. The management also wishes to thank the Alexandria Light Infantry for the use of the hall free of charge for this game. The School Board attendede the game in a body. The High School Orchestra furnished music before and after the game as well as between the periods.

DEBATE ON PEACE TREATY GROWS BITTER

that point. Senators should bear in mind that the defeat of the Four-Power treaty would endanger the treaty for the limitation of naval armament, and the failure of the naval treaty would shock and startle the world and bitterly disappoint the American people."

"This treaty," said Senator Reed after Senator Lodge had concluded, "guarantees us nothing, except that the parties to it agree to talk. No nation is under any obligation, legal or moral, to see that the others keep faith. This is a paper transaction, without obligation back of it, to keep faith or incur the displeasure of the others. What a farce was enacted. The treaty proposed that we shall destroy our fortifications in the Pacific, that we shall sink our battleships and have nothing but the puny statement of Japan."

Systematic heckling, some of it from the Republican, but most of it from the Democratic, side of the chamber, marked the course of Senator Lodge's speech today.

The last day together

They sat at the table in the restaurant where they had danced together so often, and knew that this afternoon together was their last. There had been gossip—of the sort no woman can resist. Small wonder they were distrait. They would have been more so, could they have foreseen the end of the affair which is so prominent a part of

can no more grow up than Peter Pan and that is why her latest production
"THROUGH THE BACK DOOR"
Direction by Jack Dickford and Alfred E. Green
Scenario by Marion Fairfax Photography by Charles Rosher is just the type of charming picture that you want to see her in ... the kind that made her famous ... brimful of heart interest ... intensly effective.

"Mary's" Latest Production.
"Through The Back Door"

Because a servant loved her and because her stepfather made her mother leave her in Belgium, little Jeanne Bodamere faced the problem of winning recognition from the mother who thought her dead. She came to America an immigrant when the World War broke out with only a note and a passport with which to make her identity known. Her mother lived in a palace on Long Island. The child came to it in a delivery wagon. Of course, the mother did not recognize her, and circumstances conspired to prevent her telling who she really was. In order to gain entrance to the home that was rightfully hers she had to enter it through the back door as a servant. The trials and tribulations she encountered, the heartaches and the plot she found all combine to make a fascinating and gripping drama. And the climax that made possible the mother love this little child hungered for will tug hard at the heartstrings of all who see it. "Through the Back Door" shows Mary Pickford at her best—a child role with all the pathos, all the comedy and all of the little whimsical touches that have made her famous.

the Federal Power Commission for a preliminary permit to construct a project on Cub Run, at a point below its junction with Newmarket Run, in the mountains about seven miles southeast of Newmarket, Va. The project will be located on lands in the Shenandoah National Forest. Colonel Brown proposes to construct three dams and one power house, with a capacity of approximately 1,000 horsepower, and will use the power primarily to illuminate the Endless Caverns near Newmarket, of which he is the proprietor. The remainder of the power will be sold in Newmarket and surrounding towns.

Defeat of the Four-Power Pacific treaty, pending before the Senate, would mean the failure of the Conference on the Limitation of Armament, Majority Leader Lodge, who was one of the delegates to the Conference, declared in a speech in the Senate yesterday.

"Let there be no illusion on that point," the veteran Massachusetts Senator dramatically warned the Senate in one of the greatest speeches of his career and in the ablest defense of the Four-Power treaty that has yet been made. "Defeat of the Four-Power treaty would endanger the treaty for limitation of naval armament, and the failure of the naval treaty would shock and startle the world and bitterly disappoint the American people."

He said the Conference had three distinct purposes, to reduce naval armaments, aid in the establishment of a stable government in China and eliminate the Anglo-Japanese alliance.

The soldier bonus bill probably will be passed through the House next week under the severest of all gag rules in force in Congress, according to the opinion expressed by Representative Campbell, of Kansas, chairman of the Rules Committee. This rule is known as the plain "suspension of the rules," but under the rules of the House procedure, when it is voted to put a bill on its passage, under suspension of the rules, no amendment of any kind is in order, and no motion of any kind may be made with respect to the bill being considered. Even the customary right of the minority to move to recommit is done away with. Only twenty minutes is allowed each side for debate, although by unanimous consent this may be extended.

Despite the fact that the Republicans can jam this bonus bill through the House by such parliamentary tactics, there is no certainty that the measure will ever receive the sanction of the Senate. It is assumed by Republican leaders in the latter body that President Harding would veto any bonus that did not provide for raising money through a sales tax. He has made this declaration on more than one occasion, and has not changed his attitude. Republican advisors do not believe it would be playing good politics to snd any measures to him which they felt he would certainly disapprove.

The very last thing the President did before leaving the White House for his trip to Florida was to straighten out his income tax return. Many people believe that the Chief Executive is exempt from paying an income tax, but this is not so. He has to turn in a certain percentage of his salary of $75,000 a year from March 4 last, although the amount is collectable at the source, which is the Treasury Department. But the President has, in addition to his salary as President, other forms of income, which had to be straightened out before he left for the South.

Oklahoma City has voted for a bond issue of $2,709,000 for city improvements.

Uniontown, Pa prohibits policemen from wearing mustache or whiskers.

Chicago is planning the biggest hotel in the world. It will have 4,000 rooms, including 400 kitchenettes" for those desiring to cook their own meals. The cost is estimated at $15,000,000.

St. Louis ranks as the sixth city in the United States in population, total being 772,897. Cleveland, Ohio, being the fifth largest with a population of 976,841.

Butte, Mont., is a vast mining camp, combined with a city. The Butte district has produced more than $1,000,000,000 worth of metals, copper leading the list.

Dear Sir:—I am a subscriber of the Gazette. I am a dairyman, and read papers from other states where they have Dairymen's Associations. I would like to see one started here in this vicinity.

Could you publish an article in your paper that would start, or be liable to start some interest in such an institution.

It seems to me to be the best solution to the Dairymen's troubles here.

I can give you a few ideas on the scheme if you care to take it into consideration.

Yours, E. E. Davison.

COLUMBIA WINS GRAPHOPHONE SUIT

Application For Receivership by Small Stockholder is Dismissed in New York Court

Business houses throughout the country are congratulating the Columbia Graphophone Company on the recent decision which dismissed the application for a receivership originated by a small stockholder.

Much prominence was given to the suit in New York, and when the court's decision was announced, the newspapers published the story far and wide in congratulatory articles.

The New York Times headline read: "Columbia Wins Graphophone Suit"—"Delaware Judge Dismisses Application for Receivership." The New York Sun read: 'Plans for Rehabilitation of the Company Will Be Carried Out." Mr. Whitten, chairman of the board of directors, says: "This is what I expected."

To overcome the flood of adverse talk which rose from the request for a receiver, the local Columbia distributor has arranged an unusual sale of Columbia products to bring before the people of Alexandria, not only the intrinsic value of the merchandise handled, but also the true story of the condition of the Columbia Graphophone Company.

In this connection it is interesting to know that the first letter patent ever issued covering effective methods of recording and reproducing were granted to that eminent scientist who invented the telephone, Alexander Graham Bell, and to his cousin, Chichester Bell, and to Charles Sumner Tainter, who worked with them. Letter Patent No. 341214 issued in 1886, covered their combined discovery—a method of engraving records of sound on a wax-like material. Two years later the United States Patent Office adopted the word graphophone as the original classification for a sound reproducing machine, and graphophonic art as the proper official designation of sound recording and reproducing.

The Jones patent, which came later, adopted the recording process to the making of a zig zag record. This discovery revolutionized the making of disc records and all present day lateral cut disc records are made by the methods covered in this patent.

It is also interesting to note that the first graphophone made was driven by electricity, and because so few houses were wired for this new current, storage batteries were the main source of power. Thomas Hood MacDonald, for 16 years manager of the American Graphophone Company (now the Columbia Graphophone Company,) invented the spring motor. All three of these patents, the property of the Columbia Graphophone Company, have been seriously assailed by competitors, but in every case have been upheld by the court.

In 1887, the company started to manufacture the machines and records covered by the Bell and Tainter patent, and turned out three or four machines a day. One day they made five, but the whole force worked to nearly midnight to do it. Today Columbia products are intimately known in such distant lands as India, Japan, China, Java, Cuba, Mexico and every country of South America and Europe.

The Columbia Grafonola inspired M. I. Pitkin, editor of the "Better Way" (a publication of the Cosmopolitan) when he wrote—"A Home I visited some Nights Ago—The ripe old Stradivarius that filled our ears with the elfin glory of its music did not rule the night alone. There were pianos that dripped and rippled like waterfalls in fairyand, birds voices that trembled and broke and soared again, ecstatically vibarnt in the rosy shadows of the room; Cavalier Ballads, the martial exclamation of a bugle, a thundering chorus from Verdi, A Venetian street song, jauntily squeezed and jerked from the con ertina-pathos, exultation, humor. pride abandon, all issuing in their turn from a cabinet of carved wood unobstrusively hidden in the gloom—American genius and American manufacturers have put within my beggar's reach this glorious boon of fire light and violins.

This world-famous graphaphone, now known as the Columbia Grafanola, is handled in Alexandria by its exclusive agents, Ruben's Furniture Store, corner of King and St. Asaph streets. A sale will be held bv them beginning Saturday, eleventh instant, and will continue up to the 25th instant, March 25th.

Mr. Julian D. Marshall, Dealers Service Supervisor, of the Baltimore Branch, will be with them during the sale. and they will be pleased to have you come in and meet this gentleman who is an expert in his line and can possibly tell you many things of interest in connection with graphohones, that you may not know

Startling Proof That IRONIZED YEAST Builds Weight, Beautifies Skin, and Gives New Energy to Run-down People

DO you need more flesh? Are you run-down, pale or scrawny looking? Do you lack energy—or is your skin blemished by humiliating pimples, blackheads or boils? If so, here is good news for you! Simply mail coupon below for the famous Three Day FREE Trial Treatment of IRONIZED YEAST. Take these remarkable tablets—two with each meal. Then get ready for a surprise!

Watch the Quick Improvement

You simply will not believe your eyes when you see how quickly your skin begins to freshen, and how quickly pimples, etc., begin to disappear. Note the immediate increase in appetite and energy. And as for putting new, hard flesh on your bones—not flabby fat, but good firm flesh—people report gaining five pounds and more on the very first package of IRONIZED YEAST!

Results in Half the Usual Time!

The reason Ironized Yeast brings such amazing results is because it not only contains just the right amount of all three essential vitamines, but in addition contains a type of yeast which has positively no equal as a reconstructive agent—a yeast which is cultured expressly for medicinal purposes, and which is entirely different from the yeast found in ordinary "yeast tablets."

But even more important than this is the fact that this yeast has been ironized—or treated through a scientific process with a special form of easily assimilated organic iron, similar to the iron found in spinach. When yeast is ironized in this manner it is found that results are not only more permanent, but are secured just twice as quickly!

Make This Amazing Test

Mail coupon for the amazing Three Day Free Trial Treatment of Ironized Yeast. Then watch the results! Note how it immediately increases your appetite and how quickly you begin putting on good firm flesh. See how quickly pimples, blackheads, etc., disappear and how your newly acquired "pep" makes hard work or play a pleasure instead of a task. Try IRONIZED YEAST today! Pleasant to take—will not cause gas or in any way upset your stomach. Special directions for children. Mail coupon Now!
